

Sinclair
Broadcasting's
decision to force
their stations to
air an anti-Kerry
documentary days
before the election
is a clear example
of the dangers of media consolidation.

In a democracy, both sides should be heard, not just that of the owner of the station.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free
of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. But when large companies
control the airwaves, we get more of what's good
for the bottom line
and less of what we need for our democracy.

This is a good example of why
ownership of media
should be limited.
You, the FCC, are responsible for governing this and
protecting all
citizens.

I call on you to act right now to do your job. Thank you.
